To whom it may concern:

I am writing this letter for Cari Fonseca and Team Brandon. I had the opportunity to have their presentation shown to my Driver Education students. I was absolutely blown away by its impact, but more importantly, the students were.

The presentation brings reality to topics often discussed regarding the consequences of drunk driving. Cari does a remarkable job of making it relevant. She answers the difficult questions by students, and Brandon's presence makes it even more impactful.

Students all remarked on the impact of Team Brandon's presentation. Many students finally understood the realistic effects of not only drinking and driving, but also made the connections to driving while distracted. We discussed the presentation the next day, and they had many comments and reflections – all were about the transformative nature of the presentation.

What separates this presentation from others is that it is real. It is not just a story being told. Brandon's presence brings it all to life and lets them see firsthand the consequences to this decision.

As long as I'm teaching, I want Cari and Team Brandon speaking to our students. Its impact cannot be accurately expressed.

Professionally,

Mark Wood
